

WORK SAFE. HOME SAFE.

Back to School = Time for a Safety Reset

It's that time again: backpacks, bus stops, and school zones are back in full swing. That also means it's the perfect time to hit reset on your own safety awareness.

Here are some quick tips to use and share:

- Slow down in school zones and stop for buses.
- Watch for kids near crosswalks and bus stops.
- Cross at corners and stay alert - no texting while walking.
- Keep backpacks light and use wide, padded straps.
- Review school safety plans and emergency drills with your kids.

Whether you're walking, driving, or packing lunches, remember small choices make a big impact on staying safe.
